"I HEAR IT!" Three-year-old Kevin Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald (Debbie) Harris, 1802 Bremen Ave., raises his hand during a hearing test Friday signifying he hears a tone. He was one of several hundred 3, 4 and 5-year-old children participating in the early childhood screening program, coordinated by school district officials. Giving the hearing test to Kevin is Mrs. Nancy Browning of the Illinois Department of Public Health in Edwardsville.

Policies threatening steelmakers—McBride

The Wall Street Journal on Friday cited growing worry that major steelmakers could go out of business. And United Steelworkers President Lloyd McBride shares that concern, he has made clear in new testimony at Congressional hearings.

The financial publication quoted a federal official's warning regarding steel companies' plight: "We're looking at long-term national security issues as well as the potential loss of jobs."

White House and Environmental Protection Agency officials currently are studying ways to help steelmakers by easing anti-pollution regulations.

But some federal officials regard business failures as an acceptable consequence of current efforts to halt inflation. And many see lower interest rates, if they can be achieved, as the best medicine to restore health to manufacturers, the Wall Street Journal said.

National Steel Corporation, parent firm of Granite City Steel, lost $40 million in the first quarter of 1982, attributing it to the current recession and unemployment, and to a high volume of below-cost steel exports by foreign producers.

McBride, who was director of the local Steelworkers district before advancing to the international presidency, has told Congress that it is delaying too long in reacting effectively to steel "dumping" by overseas steelmakers.

He believes that such imports, occurring simultaneously with the present recession, endanger the survival of steelmaking in the United States.

The union official testified, "There is not another industry that has been as thoroughly studied in the past five years as the steel industry."

"We studied" while 100,000 steel jobs disappeared and 10 million tons of steel capacity was dismantled or set aside.

"We studied" while 100 million tons of foreign steel entered the U.S. market—more than the steel that could have been produced in American steel plants.

"The current economic situation has made steel's problems even more oppressive. The failure of President Reagan's economic program has added injury to economic distress."

"We did not want the state of the economy before the Reagan presidency, but we were better off than we are now. There were nearly two million fewer unemployed workers in America. There was no effort to redistribute income to corporations and wealthy individuals on the cynical and erroneous theory that all Americans will benefit."

McBride continued, "The president sought and obtained tax relief for corporations so they would invest in new plants and equipment. This has not been forthcoming because his economic policies have brought about more idle capacity in our nation."

"The steel industry is operating at less than 40 percent of capacity."

"The administration's policy of high interest rates has dealt this economy a severe blow—a job-killing recession with ten million unemployed."

"These policies have made even more remote the objective of rebuilding America's industrial base."

"There are those who speak glibly of our being a service economy, and of the diminished need for a large industrial base in America."

"There are those, too, who have virtually written off the steel industry in the U.S. as incapable of competing in our own steel market."

"These critics have done this nation, the industry and American steelworkers a disservice in promoting such nonsense," McBride asserted.

"It is true that we cannot compete if (Continued on Page 5)

Multipliers for Quad-Cities

State officials have confirmed a non-multiplier, one, for Madison County real estate property.

This word was given here Friday by the county's supervisor of assessments, James Barton, who is awaiting written notification from Illinois.

The Madison County Board of Review last week formalized its previously-announced township assessment multipliers, including: Granite City—1.1513.

Venice Township (Venice and Madison)—1.1065.

Nameoki Township—1.1185.

Chouteau Township (Mitchell area)—1.1070.

The highest township multiplier among the 24 was the nearly one-fifth assessment increase in Chouteau. Granite City was second, and Wood River was close behind with 1.1502.

The lowest increase was 1.0390 in New Douglas. And Moro had a decrease, due to a negative multiplier of .9765.

New multipliers include 1.1372 for Alton property, 1.1132 for Collinsville and 1.0917 for Edwardsville.

Madison County every year achieves a multiplier of one, meaning no multiplier, by adjusting township assessments to the extent necessary to conform to state requirements.

The state this year issued a tentative Madison County multiplier of 1.1192, meaning that all valuations in the county would have been boosted by 11.92 percent had not the Board of Review ordered township multipliers.

Last week's action was based on a successful motion by Chairman Robert Harris, seconded by Fred Fluck. The other member of the review board is Mrs. Shirley Voegelé. Barton serves as clerk of the board.

The township multipliers affect all county real property excluding farm land.

State law requires assessing at one-third of actual value.

Evers is retiring from Illinois Bell

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

Singers tell of leaving their hearts in San Francisco; Kenneth L. Evers' heart is in two places, Granite City and Edwardsville.

Mayor of the county seat municipality since May 1981, Evers also has close ties to the Granite City area business community—and hopes to continue these ties even after retiring June 1 from Illinois Bell.

His 37 years with the telephone utility have included 19 years, 1956-75, as the six years as Granite City telephone manager, from July 1975 until a year ago; and the past year as Illinois Bell's community relations manager for Southwestern Illinois.

Evers, a native of Chicago who joined the telephone company there in 1945, was president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce from October 1970 to September 1980. His past Illinois Bell assignments included Rock Island, Evanston, Rockford and Cicero.

He is devoting considerable time to his duties as mayor of Edwardsville but also firmly expects to remain active in business here in a role not yet disclosed.

A past Rotary District 660 governor and a past member of the Granite City Rotary Club, he served as central and southwestern Illinois Rotary governor again this winter and spring due to the death of the district leader. Evers believes much progress has been made in dealing with issues and problems facing the City of Edwardsville.

His annual "state of the city" address last week noted plans for enhanced health care services, and he and St. Elizabeth Medical Center of Granite City announced the next day that SEMC has purchased 30 acres of land on Route 157 and University Drive, at the old Home Nursery site, for a rehabilitation center or physical therapy clinic or housing site for the elderly.

In his talk about the city government, Evers cited elimination of a $126,000 deficit and creation of new jobs. The Edwardsville economic development commission has been kept busy during his tenure as mayor.

"Mayor Ken" sees "black ink" for municipal operations during the next several years but says federal fund uncertainties make it difficult to predict the financial outlook beyond that.

An alumnus of Northwestern University and a Mason, Evers has served in various offices of St. John's United Methodist Church of Edwardsville.

He was president of the Edwardsville Rotary, Edwardsville-Glen Carbon United Fund and Edwardsville Chamber of Commerce, vice-president

Officials unhappy with budget cuts

A Madison County governmental proposal for 12 percent budget cuts in the December 1982-November 1983 fiscal year received a cool response from three elected officials who met Thursday with the Finance Committee.

The County Board's committee took no action and is still in the process of meeting with department heads and elective officials. Committee Chairman William Little said, "We are still just getting our feet wet."

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said she has no "Aladdin's lamp" with which to cut costs of her office.

Expressing a desire to be cooperative, she said next year's postal expenses will be less.

The clerk added that the cost of voter registration could be transferred from her budget to the account set aside for elections, if the board feels this would be helpful.

Sheriff Emil Toffant said that, with a 12 percent budget cut, his department would find it difficult to meet statutory obligations.

Citing layoffs as the main method by which he could cut expenses, the sheriff commented that this approach would reduce deputies' ability to perform patrols.

Toffant said there will be some savings because he already has reduced the number of patrol cars. But he estimated that a 12 percent slash might force him to lay off as many as 20 persons, a level he called "not very realistic" in terms of law enforcement requirements.

The sheriff said the department may be able to achieve some savings by cutting the amount of overtime pay and replacing it with compensatory time off.

He implied remains convinced that the now-infamous policy of blanketing the (Continued on Page 5)

It's Hospital Week

A busy schedule is planned this week at St. Elizabeth Medical Center joins with hospitals all across the country in celebrating National Hospital Week through Saturday, May 15.

This year's theme is, "You've Got a Friend" in your local hospital. "We think the 1982 National Hospital Week theme reflects the role of our medical center and its staff as friends helping the community residents to stay healthy," said Mr. Jimmie Tuetken, director of public relations.

"During Hospital Week, we're trying to remember all of the medical center's friends—the patients, the community, its associates, volunteers and its physicians and their staffs. Keeping that in mind, the following events are scheduled," she added.

Today—Flowers will be given to the oldest male and female patients. Flowers and a layette also will go to the mother and the first baby born on Mother's Day.

Tuesday, May 11—The SEMC Family Buffet will be served. A special menu is planned for the day and afternoon shifts for the medical center

UGLIEST BARTENDER? Debbie Warren, a native Granite Cityan, is given that distinction Friday afternoon by Dan Dierdorf, chairman of the annual Multiple Sclerosis "Ugliest Bartender Contest." Miss Warren was one of more than 600 bartenders in the St. Louis area participating in the contest which raised more than $82,000 for MS. She was awarded the grand prize of a trip for two to Las Vegas. She works at the King's Arm Pub at the Cheshire Inn, St. Louis, where she collected more than $5,500 for the fight against MS. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Warren, 3255 Edgewood Ave.

Brewer seeks more workers

City Engineer Monroe Brewer has asked the city to add to more employees to his combined inspection, sanitation and air pollution department or face reduced service, possibly including the elimination of inspections connected with the city's new business licensing ordinance.

The city engineer stated in a letter to both the sanitation and planning and zoning committees that the new city business licensing ordinance and zoning ordinance, combined with the city's recent reorganizational efforts, call for more manpower.

At the same time, he said, reductions in his staff have reached 45 percent.

If the city does not hire an additional inspector and reinstate his department's clerk, "I will have no choice but to submit a plan to the committee for some kind of a reduction in service," Brewer stated.

"This would probably involve suspending business license inspections, building permit inspections and assigning priorities to complaints—only investigating the most serious."

Alderman Sharon Perjak, chairman of the planning and zoning committee, said she received Brewer's letter Monday.

Mayor Paul Schuler told the council Tuesday he thinks the committees should seriously consider Brewer's request and then "either recommend it or not."

Mrs. Perjak said it was merely her intention to bring the issue to the attention of all the council members.

Brewer stated that last year when city-wide staff reductions were made and the engineering, air pollution, inspection and sanitation departments were combined, "five out of 14 employees were laid off and have not been returned."

Layoffs affected former city employees Paula Case, air pollution inspector; Kevin Halbe, air pollution inspector; William Dallas, inspection department secretary (now suing the city for his job); Tony Rusick, city building inspector, and Pete Ferro, assistant city inspector.

In addition, the only clerk remaining in the combined department was laid off in February.

"Since this reorganization, the work load of this department has been increased significantly. The new improved Street Department (under Superintendent Mac Warfield) has required more time and involvement with motor fuel tax work and providing engineering assistance," according to the city engineer.

Brewer said said that the statement is not intended to criticize Warfield, but rather to emphasize the proper connection between the street and engineering departments.

The new zoning ordinance, stated Brewer, also requires more attention to zoning matters, particularly non-conforming uses.

The new business license ordinance requires annual inspection of about 1,700 businesses, Brewer pointed out.

Holiday affects license purchase deadline in May

Sec. of State Jim Edgar has announced that due to the Memorial Day weekend, car owners with license plate registrations expiring in May have until Friday, May 26, to purchase new stickers at a secretary of state facilities in Springfield and Chicago, or Saturday, May 29, at most of the participating banks.

Midnight on Monday, May 31, is the deadline to display the orange May 1983 stickers in the upper left corner of the rear license plate. "About 804,000 renewal applications have been mailed to registered owners who are currently displaying expiring May," Edgar said. Applications made by mail should be in the secretary's office no later than Friday, May 14, to ensure delivery before the end of the month. Effective Tuesday, June 1, anyone driving a car with an expired brown May 1982 sticker will be subject to a fine for improper registration.

Comprehensive farm census next winter

Plans for the 1982 census of agriculture are on schedule, according to Bruce Chapman, director of the Commerce Department's Census Bureau.

The census, to be taken starting next January, will provide basic information measuring trends in the number of farms, commodity production, land use and income levels in agriculture. Chapman said, "Rapid changes due to declining farm income, along with continuing high interest rates, make the census information important to policymakers as well as farmers."

Census forms will be mailed in late December to 2,500,000 farmers and ranchers to collect data for the 1982 calendar year. Designed to reduce the burden on respondents through greater ease in reporting, the form will vary by region. Questions have been reworded to be more understandable.

While the basic census program is included in the proposed 1983 budget, the agriculture censuses of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam, a large-scale sample survey supplemental to the basic census, and a series of later surveys were dropped.

Farmers and ranchers will not be the only group included in a census for 1982. Economic censuses, which cover manufacturing, transportation, mining, retail and wholesale trades, and service industries, will also be taken.

Taken together, these censuses seek to document changing patterns in production, income, capital spending and other facts vital to measuring the nation's economy.

Much of the farm data gathered next year will be similar to that in 1978 and earlier censuses. It will include the number and characteristics of farms, acres in farms, average value of land and buildings, harvested acreages, and numbers of livestock on farms.

Questions on expenditures include purchase of feed, fertilizer, pesticides, lime, fuel, customwork, farm labor, and livestock and poultry purchases.

Information reported by farm and ranch operators is held confidential by law, seen only by sworn Census Bureau employees subject to fine and imprisonment if they reveal any individual information.

Published reports contain numbers only, to prevent identification of single farms.

Chapman points out that confidentiality provisions of the census law recently were reaffirmed by a unanimous decision of the Supreme Court.

Venice board hears reports from CYS Alternative School

By VALERIE EVENDEN of the Press-Record
Truancy from school is on the upswing and presents the primary problem involving students assigned to the Alternative School administered by Coordinated Youth Services for the three local school districts, the Venice Board of Education heard at its last meeting.

Reports concerning students attending the CYS educational program were presented to the board by C.A. "Bud" McMillan, CYS executive director, and Donna Daisy, Alternative School director.

In other action, the board set a special meeting for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 11, to further explore several proposed summer projects in building maintenance and repair. Addressing the board members, Miss Daisy stated, "Among all the problems encountered in dealing with students from each of the three local districts, the most prevalent is truancy and this is increasing, unfortunately," she stated.

She explained the purpose of the Alternative School is to serve students with behavioral problems who do better in a "one-on-one environment." Additionally, the program is designed to allow school-age pregnant girls to continue their education and also to serve older students who dropped out of school earlier and want to obtain a GED high school equivalency certificate or return to the regular classroom.

Miss Daisy said the "CYS program technically is for students up to 21 years old," but the average age of pupils is 15 and has not been painted in at least 15 years.

Classes are geared to improving achievement level and grade levels and earn credits toward a high school diploma or General Education Development (GED) certificate.

Primarily, however, the entire Alternative School program functions around the concept of encouraging the students' return to the established classroom setting, the director advised.

She described one Venice student in the program — a 19-year-old — as "highly motivated." He had dropped out of high school and is now attending the Alternative School, taking math, U.S. history, language arts and the senior level and a construction home management course.

"He came into the program as a virtual non-reader and he tested out today at the high school reading level. He is working hard and should attain his goal, a GED certificate, within six months," the director said.

Another student with a baby at home has difficulty attending a school which has a regular classroom schedule. The director noted the girl received no credits in the first semester of 1981-82, but has a good chance of achieving credits this semester. In history, language arts and general math, "If she continues to attend Alternative School sessions on a regular basis," Wilbert Glasper presided at the meeting in the absence of President Jack Tolliver. A lengthy discussion involved setting priorities on building projects for completion during the summer recess.

Supt. Vickers reminded the board there is regular school buildings within the past five years and exterior surfaces have not been painted in at least 15 years.

He said the blacktopped play area outside the main office building is badly deteriorated and also needs work.

The administrator suggested consulting with the building principals to gain their input into that proposed summer work projects.

"We don't have any money in the district building fund, but we haven't borrowed any this year. We may have to borrow between $10,000 or $20,000 to get some of the necessary projects started this summer," Supt. Vickers stated.

During next Tuesday's special meeting, board members plan to tour the buildings to further explore the recommendations of the superintendent on a firsthand basis.

Duane Rankin, Venice Lincoln Technical Center director, announced a joint graduation ceremony for all nurse aide classes is being planned for 7:30 p.m. June 2, possibly in Granite City. A total of 37 students in three classes is expected to graduate.

He said an administrative review of the adult vocational-educational center by the Venice Board of Education is scheduled May 18 and reported interviews with the superintendent and any board members who can participate will be conducted about 1:30 p.m. that day.

Rankin gave some background information concerning the problems facing adult education programs and how they may be governed in the future.

He described proposed legislation and commented about the current infighting among educators, some of whom support the present concept of public schools administering adult education and others who are interested in turning over the entire program to the community colleges.

Cahokia Mounds event for children May 23

Cahokia Mounds will hold a special Children's Day Sunday, May 23, to encourage children to explore the prehistoric site on Route 50 at Sand Prairie Lane, southeast of Granite City. The day has been planned by Site Interpreter Elaine Sveta with help from Wolf Branch School in the Belleville School District. Activities will include Indian dancers in costume; arrowhead making (flintknapping); pottery making; weaving; demonstration of prehistoric gardening methods; bow and arrow shooting; grinding corn and cracking nuts for dinner; stone drilling; painting of animal skins; spear throwing; Indian stories and legends; and a puppet show about archaeology. The puppet show was written by children, for children.

Each demonstration is "hands-on" (except the bow and arrow shooting). Tours of the site will be given by the children (with just a little help from some adults). A new slide show, with a special children's text, will be shown repeatedly throughout the day. The film, "Native American Myths" also will be shown at regular intervals.

There is no charge for this event. Hours are 11:00 to 4:00 p.m. To attend, adults must be accompanied by a child. Cahokia Mounds is the site of a prehistoric civilization that flourished near St. Louis about a thousand years ago.

It was the largest such city in the United States, and contained numerous huge temple mounds. Mound 1 is the largest prehistoric structure in the United States.

For times and more information, parents may call the site at 434-5288.

News notes

Gov. James R. Thompson will seek changes in the federal clean air law, to avoid... requiring auto emission testing here in 1983.

A possible delay in public aid recipients' checks developed. Friday, Democratic legislators took a negative stand on $20 million for welfare, in retaliation for the governor's addition of 170 tax fraud agents without General Assembly approval.

The Illinois Senate voted 70-4 last week to ban sale of drug paraphernalia.

Unemployment broke the post-World War II record in April, rising to 9.4 percent from the U.S. level of 9 percent in March. The national figure is the highest since 9.9 percent were out of work in 1941. There are 10,300,000 people without jobs now. In Illinois, jobless rose from 9.8 percent in March to 10.4 percent in April; state officials said consumer buying and construction activity have failed to take their usual spring upswing. In April 1981, Illinois unemployment was at 8.6 percent.

The Illinois Board of Elections voted late Thursday to disqualify petitions seeking a statewide vote on granting legislative lawmaking power to the public. With 18,457 signatures disallowed from among 286,234 submitted, the total is 4,231 short of the required 522,000. Sponsors of the petition drive plan to appeal the ruling at a hearing May 24.

After completing a ten-day jail term last week for trespassing at a Granite City clinic, the Rev. Edwin Arentsen said Thursday he will appeal the conviction and, if victorious, will picket again at the clinic. The 65-year-old anti-abortion priest is barred from going to the clinic site for a year. Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand takes the position that the priest could make known his views from a "public sidewalk." Fr. Arentsen says he needs to go onto the parking lot to talk to young women who seek to go directly from their cars into the building. He served a similar jail term in 1978.

Finalists for the position of Bi-State Development Agency executive director are Matthew D. Melucci, executive director of the dining Council, John D. Both, Bi-State's general manager for development; Manuel J. DeLo, a Bridgeton management consultant; and Burk R. Frazier, a St. Louis businessman.

Bi-State's transit general manager has been told to cut $7.5 million from a proposed 1983 transit budget after changes in accounting procedures that the board says will prepare the bus system for tougher years ahead. Expenditures have been projected at $87 million, up four percent from the current year, with the staff total remaining at 2,000.

Two sought for armed robbery

Two persons who had the appearance of lumberjacks are being sought for questioning in the armed robbery of Sheridan's Drug Store, 2301 State St., at 10 a.m. Thursday.

A heavy-set man about 45 years old, six feet tall and weighing 225 pounds, displayed a blue steel revolver with a square barrel.

The man had a full, unkempt beard. His shirt was blue plaid and he wore a black baseball cap and dark-rimmed glasses.

He carried a brown leather gym bag which he ordered owner Phil Sheridan to fill with 12 to 15 bottles of drugs, including phenobarbital.

Another individual in the store appeared to be serving as a lookout. He was about 16 years old, stockily built, 5-6 to 5-7 tall, with light hair. His clothing included a red plaid shirt.

The older man purchased a roll of mints, paying for it with a $1 bill. When the owner started to obtain change from a cash register, the man pointed the gun at him and demanded drugs.

No money was sought.

A woman auditor was ordered to lie on the floor. The robber was highly nervous, and closed one of the doors of the drug store while the bag was being filled.

Sheridan and the woman were ordered into another room and the two intruders then left. They may have been driving an old, large grey auto.

TWO SENTENCED TO COUNTY JAIL TERMS
Randy E. Hland, 21, of 705 Kirkpatrick Homes, arrested in the 2100 block of Benton Street on charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest at 3 a.m., was sentenced last week in the Granite City court to 30 days in the Madison County jail.

Tommy Hughes of the 2100 block of Benton was hospitalized with a three-inch knife wound under the left arm and on the upper chest. Penny L. Poe, 18, of 2148 Edison Ave., arrested for battery of a policeman, obstructing officers and resisting arrest, was sentenced to 14 days in the county jail. She and Hland were transferred Thursday to Edwardsville.

SHE'S MAD. Jean Giraudoux's "The Madwoman of Chailiot" will be performed at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville May 19 through 22. The student production is a romantic comedy dealing with the activities of an eccentric old lady who sets out to prove to the world that the love can triumph over everything, including corporate greed.

From the left are Randy Messersmith of St. Charles, Mo., Katie Tarwater of Glen Carbon, Daniel Betzler of Florissant, Mo., and Kathleen Brodeur of Granite City, preparing for the opening night. Ticket information is available by telephoning 1-692-2773.

Happy Strings free concert Sunday

The Happy Strings Junior Tamburitans Parents' Group met and finalized plans for the upcoming annual concert May 16. "We are excited and pleased with the progress for the past year. It has been a time of changes for the whole group," a spokesman said.

The first change was the loss of "a faithful and beloved director, Tom Kelam, who moved to Georgia. The Happy Strings were fortunate to acquire John Madro for the Senior Tams. John had been working with the Tiny Tams and accepted the responsibility of both groups. He has been busy incorporating new songs and styles for the concert," she noted.

Working with John is Kathy Debevo, who also is new with the group and has accepted the job of dance instructor. "Kathy is a definite asset to the group as she has encouraged new ideas and styles. She has managed to get Terry Ban to assist with the choreography of songs and dance for the concert."

"She has also managed to keep the mothers and boosters busy working on new costumes. Each girl's costume has more than 30 hand-embroidered roses and more than 15 feet of hand-crocheting for trim."

"The Tams themselves have been working hard practicing long hours learning new songs and dance routines.

"Not to leave out the fathers, they have been busy working at our weekly Sunday dances to help pay for the expenses incurred," the spokesman said.

It was decided that this year's concert will be held free of charge at the Granite City High School South Memorial Auditorium on Sunday, May 16, from 3 to 5 p.m., with a dance following at Croation Home, 1000 Madison Ave., in celebration of the event. Tickets for the Croatian Home dance will be $2.00 a person and food will be available.

"Much blood, sweat and tears have been poured into this concert and we feel it is going to be the best one yet. We hope the people of the Quad-City area will respond by attending and supporting the youth of this group — for they are not just our sons and daughters, but they represent all that is good about the Quad-Cities. They are the Quad-Cities of tomorrow," the spokesman concluded.

CHRISTIAN SCHOOL WILL BE ORGANIZED
The Organizing Committee for the Edwardsville Christian School will meet May 17 at 7:30 p.m. at First Federal Savings & Loan in Edwardsville.

The meeting is open to anyone interested in helping to start an interdenominational Christian school. For information, Quad-Cityans may call 288-9231 or write: Organizing Committee for the Edwardsville Christian School, 15 Squire Drive, Glen Carbon.

foreign steel-producing nations play by one set of rules and we play by another. We are expected to adhere to the rules of a market economy, but we do not insist that others do so.

"The price of a product must cover the cost of producing and distributing it, plus a reasonable profit. If a product is priced below cost as a means of garnering a market, this is unfair competition and a violation of market principles.

"Yet, we have been told that if the taxpayers of another country are willing to subsidize an industry's output, we should welcome the cheaper products in our market. That kind of thinking is not only wrong; it is dangerous.

"We would soon find that the U.S. industrial base would be vulnerable to the decisions of foreign governments about which of their industries they wish to promote.

"By subsidizing inefficient industries, foreign governments could undermine more efficient U.S. industries," he told the legislators. "Our plants and our jobs would be affected by political decisions elsewhere, not market principles. That has been true in the past, as it is today.

"This is not an idle hypothesis on my part. We have efficient steel plants and steel companies on the brink in this country, in part because of dumping and subsidization of steel operations abroad.

"A recent Congressional Budget Office study of steel operating profits and losses in the past eight years shows the United States' major producers to be profitable in six of the eight years, West Germany in two of the years, France in one, and Japan in four.

"Great Britain had a loss in each of the eight years.

"I cannot imagine our government being insensitive to the trade problems we face in the steel industry. Yet, how else can we read this critical situation?

"The penetration rate of foreign steel in the U.S. market exceeds 25 percent. One out of four tons of steel consumed in the U.S. is produced in foreign mills, while more than 80,000 steelworkers here are on layoff.

"We have steelworkers who have exhausted state unemployment benefits, are ineligible for trade adjustment assistance, and are without supplemental unemployment benefits in most of the large companies because funds are exhausted. Entire steel communities are hard hit.

"Government has a responsibility to provide a favorable economic climate within which industry and labor can have a chance to accommodate to the problems that are within our ability to resolve.

"Inaction by the government impacts on our economic welfare just as surely as action of the wrong sort.

"An 18th Century economic philosophy is no substitute for the creative role that the federal government must play in achieving and maintaining a strong and viable economic system," McBride concluded.

Evers

of the Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council, lay adviser to Scholastic District Seven, member of the Madison County U.S. Bicentennial Commission and Illinois president of the Telephone Pioneers of America.

He and his wife, Joan, have two married sons, Kenneth Jr. and Scott Alan.

Despite the diversity of his participation and leadership, Rotary International clearly ranks as his chief organizational interest. He chaired the annual district conference of Rotarians attended by 820 last month in Quincy. Representative of the RI president to various Rotary gatherings in Midwestern states, Evers is well known as a guest speaker at club, district, zone and international meetings.

A particular specialty of his, Rotary information, was the topic when he served as moderator and discussion leader at several RI world conventions.

In a typical year, he serves as information counselor at a half-dozen Rotary institutes conducted in several states.

Evers values his links to both Edwardsville and the Quad-City area. Currently an officer of the Southwestern Illinois Conference of Mayors, he told the Press-Record he is convinced that this metropolitan area needs both community-level actions and Illinois regional initiatives in order to thrive and improve.

His past and present role in seeking local progress has been substantial, and he foresees a continuation of the same kind of high-energy activity during the 1980s.

county with patrol autos is an important tool in fighting crime. He says there were 225 fewer burglaries in unincorporated areas in 1981, due to the patrol car program then in effect. Circuit Court Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell told the Finance Committee a 12 percent increase in his budget would be "not in order," and that a 12 percent increase would be wise, since he believes it would be more than offset by the income his staff produces for the county.

The circuit clerk predicted that a $5 surcharge on each traffic ticket, authorized by the state government, will start having a more visible effect now that severe winter weather is over and driving has increased.

Portell said his department is handling a greater workload than ever before. He estimated that 60,000 case files will be processed this year, compared with 42,000 eight years ago.

The idea of a 12 percent cut in funds budgeted for various department stems from projections showing that expenditures are likely to exceed available revenue.

County Board leaders have expressed a desire to continue their past avoidance of spending beyond the county's means.

Brewer

He cited new construction projects in various stages of completion totaling $200,000 in value and two other construction jobs that are being completed, as all needing constant attention.

Even though the "busy season is just underway," 260 building permits have already been issued since March 1, Brewer stated.

"The mayor's assistant's job has been abolished and that office provided most of the assistance with Community Development paperwork. We must do more of this now on these projects." The one additional inspector Brewer is requesting would assist with building and business license inspections. The clerk he is asking to be reinstated would serve all three departments and is expected to be funded partially under the city's new air pollution grant.

"Our schedules are hampered by having to make sure there is always someone here to answer the phone and take care of the other clerical tasks," Brewer stated.

Brewer made similar employee requests at the finance committee's budget hearing for the inspection department, but no provisions were made for any additional employees.

Officers for GC library

The Granite City Public Library Board has elected Board Member Halig Nighousian as president, effective this month.

Other officers elected at the board's last meeting were Mary Jo Akeman, vice-president; Evelyn Todd, secretary; and George Filicot Sr., treasurer. Terms of the new officers will continue until next May.

Joan Yetter was the retiring board president. She is maintaining her position as a board member and also has announced her candidacy for the Illinois Library Trust Association Board.

BEATEN UP AND MAY LOSE AN EYE

Timothy Kienle, 20, of 2556 Adams St., was taken to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was then transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, suffering from lacerations to his head and an eye following a fight at 1:45 a.m. Saturday in the 2500 block of Benton St.

Kienle left a party and was walking home when he met another young man walking toward him, who allegedly started to beat Kienle's head and face.

Four witnesses said they did not get involved, as they thought it was none of their business. Police stated there are several conflicting stories as to just what happened.

According to an emergency room doctor, Kienle was not only struck, but also was cut, and may lose an eye.

HOUSE BURGLARIZED

The home of Vonnice Lane, 2035 Twelfth St., was burglarized between 7 and 10 p.m. Saturday. A neighbor told Mrs. Lane that she had just yelled at a boy in the back yard who had just jumped over the fence, running from the victim's house. Mrs. Lane found her purse in the house on the floor and $100 in cash and $3 in change missing.

Madison schools accredited again

The Madison schools have again received accreditation from the North Central Association (NCA).

According to a letter from John S. Kemp, state director of NCA, the accreditation was renewed for five years. The board of education, which was notified of the accreditation, expressed its appreciation for the NCA's work.

Four students will be tested in grades one through eight and three students at each high school level. Don Bales, associate dean of the school of education at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, is coordinating the testing.

The Madison County Arts Council's Spring Arts Festival was held at the Madison County Courthouse. The festival was a success by Harold E. Briggs, regional superintendent of schools, and appreciation was expressed to the Madison teachers for their participation.

The Madison School Board voted on record as opposing Illinois Power Company's requested rate hike. IPC is requesting a 9.7 percent rate increase for natural gas and a 19.9 percent increase for electricity. A resolution passed Thursday in opposition to the hike will be sent to the Urbana School Board.

The board approved the purchase of an electronic air cleaner for the Madison High School shop area costing $3,200.

The board also accepted the Eastman Kodak Co. microfilm proposal for $6,000. The board is purchasing a printer-reader to be kept at the board office and a reader for the high school.

Since the microfilming of school records will be done in conjunction with Madison County, no camera is needed and the only charge from the county will be for the film.

The board expressed praise for the students who raised $1,000 for the Heart Fund in their jump-a-thon. It was reported that 109 students from grades six, seven and eight jumped rope in teams of six.

The top two money-raisers were Bernard Gower and Tana Steward, both of the eighth grade and both earning more than $100 for the Heart Fund.

Barring any unforeseen problems, the board approved Friday, June 4, as the last day of school.

District as part of the formal testimony.

The Urbana District is filing a petition to intervene with the Illinois Commerce Commission with the intent to formally oppose these increases and is seeking support from all school districts served by it.

Problems the district has been having with Middle School road.

Tracy Champlin, Victor Valentine Jr. and Michael Young, all Madison High School students, talked to the board about attending "Operation Snowball," a drug education program.

Students spend a weekend learning facts about drugs so they, in turn, may help educate their peers in the dangers of the various drugs.

Miss Champlin has attended two conferences and has been trained as a youth counselor for drug problems.

New registration system used at SIU

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will introduce a new system of registration for continuing students, beginning with summer quarter advance registration.

Eugene Magac, director of admissions and records at the university, said the procedures for open registration (walk-in registration) will remain the same. However, registration for students who are continuing their studies will feature a rotating alphabetical schedule based on class standing rather than the traditional appointment system.

Continuing students are those who have been enrolled in classes at the university at any time during the last 12 months.

According to the director, graduate students and seniors will register first, in alphabetical order. Juniors and sophomores will register next, followed by freshmen.

Continuing students must present identification in the form of a valid ID card or a fee receipt card (No. 3 card). Seniors are designated as those having accumulated 120 or more academic hours; juniors, 90 to 137 hours; sophomores, 42-89 academic hours; and freshmen, 41 or fewer hours.

Graduate students and seniors are scheduled to register May 25 in the following order: Students whose last names begin with A through E will register from 9:30 until 9:30 a.m.; F through J, from 9:30 until 10:30 a.m.; K through O, from 10:30 until 11:30 a.m.; P through T, from 11:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.; and U through Z, from 12:30 until 1:30 p.m.

Juniors and sophomores will register as follows: Students whose last names begin with A through E will register from 2 until 3 p.m.; F through J, from 3 until 4 p.m.; K through O, from 4 until 5 p.m.; P through T, from 5 until 6 p.m.; and U through Z, from 6 until 7 p.m.

Crackdown cuts road deaths here

Enforcement efforts by Illinois State Police, directed at specific violations occurring on selected high accident rate highways, have contributed to a continued reduction of traffic fatalities in Illinois, authorities believe.

During the first four months of 1982, Illinois had 428 traffic fatalities, 107 less than last year in the same period.

In April 112 persons lost their lives on Illinois highways, eight of these in District Eleven.

The local district has a total of 27 fatalities this year, a reduction of 17 from the same period last year.

Capt. Laimutis A. Nargelinas, district commander, said, "The Police For Results program (PFR) initiated in July 1981 has made it possible for us to identify specific high accident rate highways and to direct our efforts to those areas."

The following locations have been identified as having the worst accident rates:

1. I-270 from the Mississippi River Bridge to I-55-70.
2. All of Route 50, and Route 161 through Clinton County.
3. I-70 from the Madison-St. Clair County line to Illinois Route 157.

The Parents' Group for Special Education Children was voted funds to provide a bowling banquet for youngsters who participated in a bowling program the past year.

Donations also went to help pay the medical expenses for two children, and the group agreed to fund a program of daily snacks for a class of preschoolers.

Mella Rosenberg, society treasurer, was in charge of the meeting, with members deciding to sponsor a booth at the traditional Fourth of July celebration in Wilson Park.

Chris Feigl was appointed project chairman, assisted by Brian and Debbie Evans, Ron and Stephanie Koenemann, Evelyn Leeper, Dorothy Lejewski and Lily Chaboud.

A nominating committee was chosen to prepare a slate of officers for presentation this month. Those named to the selection committee were Stephanie Koenemann, Brian and Deborah Evans, Chris Feigl and Mella Rosenberg.

A summary of the objectives and the fiscal budget will be available for public inspection and comment.

Individuals wishing to give oral testimony should bring a written copy of their remarks to be included with the official transcript. Invitations are being extended to all agencies, senior citizen organizations and groups to the hearings.

For those unable to attend the Madison County hearing, one will be held at Belleville Area College, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville, from 2 to 4 p.m. Monday, May 17, and another will be held at the Illinois Power Co. headquarters, 1010 N. Market St., Springfield, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 19.

BILLFOLD IS TAKEN

Eulish Reir, 209 E. 24th St. was apparently working in her front yard when a youth forced open the back screen door and removed her billfold from her purse in a hall closet about 12:55 p.m. Saturday. She told police a juvenile road up on a bicycle and started talking to her for about 10 to 15 minutes. When she went back into the house, she discovered the burglary. The purse contained $2 in cash, plus her Medicare, insurance and Social Security cards.

North softballers edge South on 'missed base'

DOUBLE DUTY. Granite City North's Kathy Hutchings tries to complete a double play after she forced Granite City South's Elaine Reinagel out at second base. The Steelers nipped the Warriors 7-6 Friday in a Gateway East Conference softball game.

GRANITE CITY — Good fielding, pitching and hitting are usually sufficient to win softball games, but sometimes luck doesn't hurt either.

Just ask Granite City North coach Gus Lignoul. Good fielding, pitching and hitting wasn't enough for the Steelers to defeat Granite City South 7-6 Friday. The Steelers needed luck to defeat the Warriors.

The stroke of luck occurred in the sixth inning. South's Anne Puhse hit an apparent three-run home run which would have given the Warriors a 7-5 lead. Immediately after Miss Puhse crossed the plate, the bad news was out for South.

Michelle Staggs touched all four bases and scored. Kathy Juhasz touched every base but third. The umpire caught her mistake and called her out after Miss Puhse scored.

Under softball rules, the umpire doesn't need an appeal by the defense to call a runner who had missed a base out. If he saw the infraction, he calls the runner out when the ball is dead.

"She knew she had missed the base after she crossed home," South coach Pat Yates said. "She wanted to go back to third and touch it, but it was too late because she had already touched home. We also didn't want to point out to the umpire she missed the base in case he didn't see it."

That mistake simplified the strategy. Lignoul and the Steelers used for the sixth and seventh innings.

"If the run would have counted, we would have hit away and play for two runs and it would have been harder to score," Lignoul said. "With being just one run down, we could put our way on base and to advance runners."

The Steelers did just that in the sixth good fielding and pitching. North committed only two errors, both in South's two-run fourth inning, for the game.

Miss Fanning, the winning pitcher for North, walked just four batters. "I told them if we played the way we and seventh innings, with a little help from Warrior mistakes. In the sixth, Michelle Morgan bunted to the pitcher, but a poor throw to first allowed Morgan to advance to second. She scored on a single by Kathy Hutchings.

Monica Fanning walked to open the seventh inning, and Trisha Atkinson bunted between third and the pitcher's mound and beat out the throw for a hit. bases. Kristi Whitaker got the game-winning RBI when she grounded to second and Miss Fanning beat the throw home.

"We were very lucky to get a break like that," Lignoul said.

Meanwhile, coach Yates was pleased with the Warriors' performance. "It's nice to be in a low scoring game. I thought we played well and cut down on our mistakes."

Trojans finish third, fourth

To say the Trojan track team has improved since the beginning of the season is an understatement.

Last Thursday, the Trojans finished third of 14 schools in the O'Fallon Relays, and Tuesday they managed a fourth-place finish in the Roxana Relays.

"We've been competing pretty well in the big meets," said Charlie Steptoe, Madison's coach. "The kids turned in some good performances."

Some of those performances included a first place finish in the 400 meter relay in the O'Fallon Relays. With two of the usual four athletes out with injuries, the Trojans still managed to take the event.

Madison's A.C. Ware, Charles Fuller, Tim Prothro and Ken Briggs dashed through the paces in 45.39 for the first place finish. O'Fallon finished second with 45.67, followed by Freeburg at 45.9. The Trojans also managed a second place finish in the low hurdle shuttle Thursday as Briggs, Rodney Gary, George Leonard and Tim Prothro finished 10.28. O'Fallon finished first with a time of 9.96.

Madison's premiere high jumper John Lewis finished in a second place tie Thursday with a jump of 6-foot-4. Lewis and Freeburg's Trenbough finished behind the first place jump of Lebanon's Demetrius Pries' jump of 6-foot-6.

Madison
Trojans

Tuesday, in Roxana, the Trojans mustered some outstanding performances, but were unable to capture a first place finish. Lewis managed a second place finish in the high jump, leaping 6-foot-2. Briggs finished third in the 100 meter dash with a time of 11.6.

Outstanding performances were turned in by Madison's 600 meter relay team with a third place finish. Tim Prothro in the 110 meter high hurdles with a fifth place finish, the 1600 meter relay team as they finished fourth and "Jumping John" Lewis finished third in the triple jump.

Lang gambles; North's second in GEC girls' meet

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — Harry Lang, Granite City North's track coach, became a gambler at the Gateway East Conference girls track meet here Thursday.

The Steelers had little chance of winning the meet because of Edwarsville's depth, but Lang was willing to load the relays and take freshman Paula Rosycki out of the 100 hurdles and put her in the 400 meter dash to take second place.

Lang's gamble worked like a charm. Edwarsville won the meet easily with 78 points, but North scored 56½ points to pull away from the rest of the pack. Cahokia scored 48 points for third, Granite City South narrowly missed third with 42 points, and Belleville Althoff was last with 32½ points.

Had Lang not made the changes, the battle for second would have been much closer than it was.

"I thought we would have right there going for second," South girls coach David McClain said. "I expected us to get either second or third, not fourth. I really didn't expect North to do as well as they did."

North's first gamble, loading the relays, was the reason North pulled away from Cahokia and South.

Five girls, Lisa Kalka, Rachel Coleman, Emily McWhorter, Donna Broyles and Nancy McClew, ran the four relays for the Steelers.

Kalka, Coleman, McWhorter and Broyles won the 800 relay in 1:52.7, a new conference record. Kalka, Coleman, Broyles and McClew combined to win the 1600 relay in 4:21.7.

Coleman, Broyles, Kalka and McClew joined together for second place in the 800 medley, missing first by a half-second. Kalka, Coleman, McWhorter and Broyles took second in the 400 relay.

"We loaded the relays because we're loaded with depth and we know we couldn't compete in the 100 and 200 dashes," Lang said. "I was super pleased with our effort. We competed to the best of our abilities."

The other gamble Lang took was moving Rosycki out of the 100 meter hurdles to the 400. That gamble really paid off for her and the Steelers.

Rosycki, who has placed in both the 100 and 200 hurdles consistently this season, broke the conference record in the 400 with a run of 1:01.8.

"I'm not really surprised by her. I knew she could run that well because she ran a leg of the 1600 relay in 61 seconds earlier. Anytime a girl runs a 400 in 61 seconds, she should be considered among the best," Lang said.

Her success in the 400 created a dilemma for Lang and his staff. "Coach (Bryan) Wilkinson, our hurdles coach, and I will be talking about what she can do best. She's been running 1-2 in the hurdles, so I'm not sure what she'll do in the district meet."

Rosycki also came in second in the 200 hurdles with a time of 31.9 seconds. The Steelers' Christy Lauderdale also won the 3200 meters in 12:43.3.

Granite South's Michelle Shoemaker was the only Warrior to win an event. She won the 1600 meters in 6:07.1 and finished second in the 3200 in 13:00.3.

"She ran her personal best times of the year in both of those events," McClain said.

Trish Skinner was the only other Warrior to come in second with a long jump of 15-10.

TEAM RESULTS

Edwardsville 78, GRANITE CITY NORTH 56.5, Cahokia 48, GRANITE CITY SOUTH 42, Belleville Althoff 32.5.

HAND OFF. Lisa Kalka hand the baton to Nancy McClew during the 1600 meter relay race in the Gateway East Conference track meet held at SIU-Edwardsville Thursday. The Steelers' 1600 relay won the event, and the Steelers finished second in the meet.

Steelers

Non-conference games continue to trouble Steeler diamondmen

BELLEVILLE — Non-conference baseball games are still giving Granite City North fits.

Belleville West added to North's non-league jinx by sweeping Saturday's doubleheader with the Steelers. The Maroons won the first game 5-4 and the second game 4-3 in eight innings. Combined with a 9-3 non-conference loss to Greenville Thursday, the Steelers are 9-10 for the season.

Although the Steelers clinched at least a tie for the Gateway East Conference championship last week, North has been unable to put things together in non-conference games. The Steelers are 5-2 in the GEC but 4-8 in non-GEC games.

Those non-conference losses could put the Steelers in a difficult situation during the Collinsville Class A Regional Tournament May 27-31.

Despite the Steelers' record in the conference, Collinsville, Cahokia, East St. Louis Lincoln and Granite City South all have winning records. Unless the Steelers do well this week, there is a good chance North could be seeded fifth in the tournament.

"It's important to be seeded as high as possible," North coach Bob Stegemeier said. "We'd like to be seeded one or two, but I don't think we will be unless the coaches think we're good enough to be."

"We'd rather be third or fourth than fifth or sixth because we would probably have the home field advantage the first round. I think we're a better team than our record shows," Stegemeier said.

As far as Stegemeier is concerned, the Steelers should be 15-4 rather than 9-10 for the season. Saturday's doubleheader loss was another example of how mental errors and stranding runners equal losses.

"We lost a doubleheader that we should have won," Stegemeier said. "A good team should win tough games like this. I don't know if we're not playing hard or if we don't have the desire. One thing on the kids side is that we are a young ball club."

In the first game, the Steeler lost a 4-3 lead with a couple of "cheap" runs in the fifth and sixth innings to spoil Paul Barrington's complete game.

North, trailing 3-0 in the second inning, scored all four its runs in the third inning. Kevin Patterson singled, Carl Luehmann reached on a fielder's choice, and Scott Levin cleared the bases with a three-run home run. Steve Tritschuh capped the inning with a solo home run.

The Maroons scored in the fifth on a wild pitch, and the winning run scored when a ball deflected off Barrington's glove just out of the shortstop's reach.

Meanwhile, the Steelers stranded runners in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings.

North was equally as guilty at leaving runners in the second game of the doubleheader. The Steelers left 10 runners on bases and blew several chances to win the game in seven innings. The Steelers had two runners on the bases in the sixth inning with just one out. Both runners stayed on the bases. In the seventh inning, a runner was picked off stealing just before the batter hit a double. The same thing happened in the eighth inning.

The Steelers scored two runs in the fourth. Luehmann doubled and scored on a ground out, and Levin singled and scored on a wild pitch. In the fifth inning, David Sheikh walked and scored on Patterson's double.

"We're making a lot of mistakes. We're missing the cut off man, and we're not getting the hits when we need them. It seems we do all our hitting in one inning. We're making a lot of mental errors," Stegemeier said. "It's been hurting us all year."

"We have start winning these games like this. Our pitcher did a pretty good job in both games, but our mental errors hurt them," Stegemeier said.

North used two inexperienced pitchers against Greenville, and the Comets greeted them with two home runs and a triple. Sheikh hit a two-run home run for the Steelers.

North hosts Alton today at 4 p.m. and travels to Collinsville Wednesday for a 4 p.m. game. North will also play a doubleheader with Wood River May 22 at North. The first meeting between North and Wood River was called off because of snow.

Quad-City teams fare well in relays

CENTRALIA — Quad-City high school track teams fared well Saturday in one of the largest area track meets of the season.

Of 22 schools listed in the Centralia Relays, Granite City North tied with Carbondale for eighth place with 24 points. Granite South finished 12th with 14 points and Madison finished 18th with three points. E. St. Louis Sr. won the meet with 102.5 points.

"I think we did fairly well," said Harry Lang, North's track coach. "I think South and Madison did well too. In a meet that size the competition's pretty stiff."

Lang said he was particularly proud of his four-mile relay team who managed a second place finish.

"We had some surprises and some disappointments. I can't tell you how happy I am with these kids (the 4-mile team)."

North's Jim Robertson ran the first leg of the race in 4:39.9. Bill Schaefer ran second in 4:45.9, followed by John Peter's time of 4:39.9 and Kenny Meyer's of 4:45.9 for a combined time of 18:51.8.

The finish was particularly sweet for Lang because all are underclassmen.

Robertson and Peters are sophomores and Schaefer and Meyer are juniors.

North's fifth place finish in the 300 yard low hurdle struggle also made Lang smile, not because he was surprised by his trackster's performance, but because the Steelers managed to edge E. St. Louis, a team that had previously finished ahead of North in the event.

North's Dave Long, David Davis and Jim Howard managed a 2:07.5 finish in the event.

One Steeler whose performance did not surprise many people was that of Dave Rensing.

Rensing finished second in the discus with a toss of 145-feet-2. He also managed a sixth place finish in the shot put.

Rescuing your auto from winter's ravages

You've abused it, left it out in the cold and put off tending to its needs until the weather turned warmer. You just hoped it would survive. Well, it's not too late to rescue your car from winter's ravages.

Thom B. Butts, automotive technology instructor at the SIUC School of Technical Careers, says this is the time of year to take care of your car's body; pull out the cleaners, dust off the wax and get rid of the road salts that have been eating into the finish.

"If salt has begun the corroding process," Butts adds, "waxing will keep it from getting any worse. It won't cure a rust problem, but it will arrest it."

"Tires will need attention, too. They usually are neglected in the winter. Check the tire pressure and examine their general condition."

"You may have run over something concealed in the snow that slashed or took a chunk out of the tire."

"Be sure to have a good tire gauge of your own, since pressure indicators on service station air hoses aren't always accurate."

"Of course, if you have snow tires, it's time to switch back to conventional ones. And while you're at it, check the spare tire. You might even want to assemble the jack to make sure all the parts are there."

"Next," says Butts, "pop the hood and check the belts and hoses. You can look for cracking, fraying or glazing (a hard, shiny surface on what should be a pliable belt or hose)."

TV auction nets $330,903

The 1982 Great TV Auction, KETC Channel 9's annual fund-raising event, faded to black at midnight last week, grossing the station $330,903, or $8,900 over the goal of $325,000. Last year's auction raised $285,000.

Money raised from the nine-day event, Channel 9's sixth annual Auction, goes toward program acquisition costs and daily operational expenses. The auction accounts for 10 percent of KETC's budget.

This year, volunteers processed and auctioned more than 4,000 items of merchandise or services. Nearly 1,000 items came in during the week the auction was on the air.

CAR SKIDS IN RAIN, HITS UTILITY POST

Alice M. Brooks, 21, of 4077 Bruene Ave. was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of injuries suffered at 11:10 p.m. Thursday while a passenger in the eastbound auto of Gary E. Brooks, 36, of the Bruene address.

It was raining as the car neared the point where East 23rd Street curves to the right to connect with Highway 162. The vehicle skidded on wet pavement and failed to complete the turn, its front end crashing into and damaging an Illinois Power Co. utility pole. Brooks also was taken to the hospital for examination.

Seniors to hear discussion of primitive Papuya tribe

An education professor and his wife, who lived and worked with the mountain people of Papuya, will discuss their experiences with the tribes of New Guinea, at the Wednesday, May 12, Dialogue for Senior Citizens at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Merrill and Tamaji Harmin, who describe their move back to life in the stone age as "not all that bad," visited the primitive tribes during a six-month sabbatical in 1980.

Harmin, a specialist in human relations, compared the 10,000-year-old lifestyle of the natives to modern man and discovered people are no more or less happy in either life. "Time hasn't improved the satisfaction," he said.

The Harmins will also display artifacts and answer questions about the tribesmen and their culture.

The dialogue meets at 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the Mississippi Room of the University Center. It is the last of the 1982 series, sponsored by the Gerontology Program at SIUE. Admission is free.

A season-ending social and dinner for Dialogue participants and speakers is scheduled immediately after the May 12 dialogue at the Faculty Club on the SIUE campus. Tickets are $5.

For additional information, dinner reservations, or a complete program for the 1982-83 dialogue beginning in October, interested persons may contact Lisa Pettit at 1-692-3454.

Cosentino cites state aircraft use

State Treasurer Jerry Cosentino, running for secretary of state charged today that Republican state officials are abusing the privileges of the offices they hold by using state-owned aircraft for political trips.

"They are using airplanes and helicopters as though they were Illinois Republican Air Force One," Democrat Cosentino said. "It has got to stop."

He is asking Gov. James Thompson and Secretary of State Jim Edgar to "practice some control in the use of state aircraft. I especially refer to the helicopters that were purchased for emergency medical service."

"A Springfield newspaper has said, 'Thompson and Edgar have been primary users of a new twin-engine Sikorsky S-76 helicopter.'"

"Thompson, according to the report, uses it 24 percent of the time, a little more than the 24 percent used for medical emergencies. Edgar has flown in the Sikorsky seven times, mostly for political reasons. Edgar often is picked up near his residence in a helicopter for quick trips to Capitol Airport in Springfield."

"Edgar requested that the helicopter pick him up in Lockport one rainy night when the airport was closed to other aircraft."

Cosentino said he never has used state aircraft, either for government or political purposes.

"I recognize there are instances where it is necessary for the governor to use a helicopter," Cosentino said. "The nature of the office makes emergency trips necessary. But I cannot understand the necessity of a secretary of state using a state-subsidized service for political campaigning."

"I realize that Republican officeholders are charged for political trips."

"However, the definition of what is political and what is not is clouded. They suffered this embarrassment during the last campaign when their lieutenant governor was caught confusing campaigning with government business. I would think they should have learned their lesson.

"Edgar especially seems to be getting carried away, both literally and figuratively, with the privileges of the office he was given. Getting picked up by helicopter — sometimes even in his back yard, according to neighbors — to be transported to Springfield airport is a little too much."

"The state charges $504 an hour for the use of the aircraft helicopter. These charges, at $84 per set, are based only on the direct operating costs."

"The charges include fuel and maintenance but do not include pilots' salaries, which are appropriated from public funds."

"Illinois residents are being asked to tighten their belts and understand the economic situation by Republican administrations in Washington and Springfield. At the same time, they see public officials, who should be setting their own belts, being whisked about the state in a twin-engine helicopter. The contrast in lifestyles will not be overlooked by the voters," Cosentino concluded.

TAX RELIEF BUST

The Illinois Department of Revenue is granting Circuit Breaker tax relief grants at the rate of approximately 25,000 a week. The grants for the elderly and disabled, pay up to $700 for property taxes, plus a flat grant of $60. The deadline for filing is Dec. 31. Persons having questions about the grant may contact their township tax assessors or call toll-free 1-800-642-3889 for assistance.

Auxiliary makes 'cascarones'

In preparation for the Cinco de Mayo Fiesta, scheduled Saturday, May 15, the Mexican Honorary Auxiliary met last week to make special decorations. Meeting in the MHC Hall, 1801 Spruce St., the group spent time creating "cascarones," which are egg shells filled with confetti and dyed in striking colors. The colorful eggs, which will be offered for sale at the fiesta, are broken on the heads of friends, causing a shower of confetti to emerge. The gesture is a traditional part of fiesta time in Mexico. Donations were authorized to a girls' soccer team, sponsored by the auxiliary, and preliminary planning was started for a holiday bazaar on Nov. 13.

Handmade afghans were presented to Carol Pruden, Camille Fensterman, Dennis Mayes, Leola Sedares and Hector Mendoza and prizes were won by Helen Valencia and Kathy Moore.

Serving a buffet luncheon were Ruth Elliott, Linda Garcia, Loreta Wysocki and Nancy Dickerman.

The auxiliary will next meet May 20 when the hostesses will be Carol Kovach, Harlene Becerra and Lilly Valencia.

Individualized fashions interest Homemakers

"The year of the stripe, the nautical look, the country casual and the prairie look" were fashion phases shared by Sara Jean Ponder at the 46th annual meeting of the Madison County Homemakers Extension Association.

A public relations specialist with WestPoint Peppercorn textile mills, she narrated a fashion show featuring garments from Bill Blass haute couture to everyday designs—all made from designer sheets.

"Color is the most powerful means of communication outside of speech," she stated. She went on to say that "today's home sewers are sewing, not necessarily as an economy measure, but rather to individualize fashion."

Opening the program was County HBA President Carol Bauman, Highland. A welcome to the 280 members and guests from 30 county units was offered by Bill Blass, Wood River, Northwest District vice-chairman.

Eileen Becker, Moro, gave the invocation. Arline Brinkmeyer, Granite City, directed the group in the pledge of allegiance.

Substantial energy savings at SIUE

By PETER BIMPSON

Energy conservation economies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville cannot be explained by the observation of the late Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen, who said, "A billion here, a billion there, and pretty soon you're talking about real money."

Jim Johnson, chief engineer at SIUE Plant Operations, says savings came as a result of a series of steps that seemed relatively minor in themselves. But in the aggregate, they produce some dramatic figures, or real money by anyone's accounting, he comments.

Cumulative savings of natural gas consumption came to 60 percent from 1971 to 1981, while a 25 percent reduction in electricity was effected.

In 1970-71, the local university used 4,667,860 therms of natural gas to service square footage of 1,629,829, or 3.05 therms per square foot.

A decade later, the total square footage had risen to 2,304,808. But gas usage had been cut to 2,770,945, or 1.20 per square foot.

The lower square footage demanded 38,466,250 kilowatt hours of electricity, or 25.66 KWH per square foot. In ten years, use had risen to 40,761,435 kilowatt hours. However, energy conservation measures cut the average to 17.66 KWH per square foot.

"Of course, costs have skyrocketed beyond anyone's imagination," Johnson said. "So energy continues to be an increasing burden on the budget."

When our equipment was installed back in 1965, we got only the best, and it was expensive to operate. Events in 1973 changed everything, but we had already begun to cut our costs in energy.

Johnson can recall at least 25 separate measures that contributed to the overall economies, ranging from installation of a computerized building energy control system to reduced interior and exterior lighting levels.

Many of the measures elicited a price in personal convenience. However, the university community seems to have adapted to the changes that have survived criticism.

When the sophisticated heating, ventilation and air conditioning equipment was brought under tighter controls, steps like shutting down at night or when the university was closed were generally accepted.

When the minimum outside air intake was reduced from 25 to 10 percent on all air handling units, there were questions as to the overall effect. But the savings balanced out the inconvenience of getting used to it.

Those in offices near air-handling equipment reacted as soon as it was turned off, before any actual change in temperature. Lighting adjustments were reported to headaches, though there was no loss of candlepower.

Human nature, acclimated to a given set of working conditions, often experiences difficulties when changes take place.

Temperature reductions have been important. Domestic hot water has gone down from 140 to 100 degrees Fahrenheit, while high-temperature hot water has been reduced from 400 to 300 degrees. Chilled water rose from 45 to 46 degrees.

All environmental control equipment has been programmed to start at still have buildings ready for occupancy at starting times.

Systems are now geared to shut down an hour before closing, to take advantage of gradual cooling off or city operation on an as-needed basis during weekends, breaks and holidays.

Electrical load demand limiting is now programmed, as is heating, ventilation and air conditioning cycling.

The hours that exterior lighting is on have been reduced consistent with security and safety concerns. New equipment has increased range and candlepower at lower costs.

Interior fluorescent fixtures have been installed with energy saving ballasts, and conventional lamps have been replaced with energy-saving lights.

Air delivery system motors are now running at a reduced revolution per minute rate.

All high-temperature water generators at the Heating and Refrigeration Plant have been installed with CO2 analyzers. Four 1,000-ton absorption chillers have been modified to increase output efficiencies at lower energy input.

A major step in progress is the upgraded insulating of the underground high-temperature water system.

Reflecting the effect of strong emphasis on esthetic quality in buildings, the roofs have had to be repaired or replaced with additional insulation added. Design considerations initially resulted in cost cutting on the roofs. New roofing now incorporates stronger insulation quality.

Storm windows, insulated siding, and solar screens on tract houses at the main campus and at buildings in Alton have helped. A major effort involved storm windows at the East St. Louis center.

The exteriors of Buildings II and III and the Lovejoy Library have been caulked to prevent air leaks.

Other campuses are experiencing more drastic changes, Johnson said. "I heard about turning off hot water in restrooms at a seminar," he noted.

"Institutions in California, North Dakota and Ohio are doing it."

"But the law here regulates this, so we had to change our thinking on the subject."

The high efficiency levels reached by present equipment make other drastic changes unwise at present, Johnson believes. There was a $25,000 study on the feasibility of converting to coal here, but the Capital Development Board found that it would take 10 years for the change to pay for itself and begin to save.

Many campuses that would project a five-year payback were recommended for this change, so SIUE was exempted.

Consultants are currently being chosen to conduct a thorough energy audit at the university here. The $25,000 study will examine the present system, calculate the full range of costs, and examine existing and potential cost-cutting measures in terms of feasibility and efficiency.

"It's going to be hard to find ways of reducing energy consumption that will save as much as what we are already doing," Johnson said.

"But experience has shown that things that seem relatively minor at the time can be significant over the long term, so we're going to keep trying."

Lafikes' name daughter Lisa

Mr. and Mrs. George Lafikes of Godfrey became the parents of their third child, a daughter, born April 25 at St. Joseph's Hospital in Alton.

The infant weighed seven pounds, 14 ounces and has been named Lisa Marie.

Her brothers are Christopher, 5 years, and Jonathan, 2½.

The mother will be remembered as the former Diane Niebur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Niebur of Granite City.

The paternal grandparents are Mrs. Jovanna Manns of Godfrey and the late Louis Lafikes.

Governor and Mrs. James R. Thompson hosted a luncheon Thursday at the Executive Mansion in support of the city of Chicago as the site for the 1992 World's Fair.

"Illinois' heritage is rich in the economic, cultural and social strengths of America," the governor said. "I am committed to supporting the endeavors of the Chicago World's Fair 1992 Corp. I have invited legislative leaders and members of my cabinet to meet with this team and share in showing the support by state government."

Thompson has invited legislative leaders, members of his cabinet, labor leaders and corporate officials to the luncheon and will ask them to become involved in the statewide planning efforts for the proposed fair.

Four international delegates representing the Bureau of International Expositions arrived in Chicago on Sunday, May 2. They are Ted Allan, chairman of the Chicago Pre-Inquiry Team from Great Britain; Marie-Helene Defrenee, director of the Bureau of International Expositions from France; Marlen Adkovic, delegate from the USSR and Ole Herold, delegate from Finland.

The Pre-Inquiry Team will report to the Bureau of International Expositions on all aspects of the Chicago site for a world's fair in 1992.

In June, the BIE will establish a reservation date for the next Universal Category fair, which will be the first public indication of the site to be selected. A 120-day period for public comment follows, after which the final approval process begins.

In December, the BIE will issue the registration date, which declares the selected location and dates for the next World's Fair. The last such fair was Osaka's World Exposition in 1970.

The international rules allow only one Universal Category fair every 10 years.

Other Special Category fairs may occur every two years, but represent a narrow theme, smaller acreage and fewer projected visitors. In order to qualify as a Universal Fair, a broad philosophical theme must apply, more than 50 million visitors must attend and 500 to 1,300 acres of grounds must be utilized.

The Chicago World's Fair 1992 Corporation had requested a rule change which would allow a Universal Category fair to occur once every decade. That action would allow both the Paris and Chicago fairs to occur.

"We are optimistic that such a rule change will be accepted," the governor said. "It is advantageous to everyone to encourage flexibility in the scheduling of such fairs, since they are normally tied to specific anniversary dates."

"The Age of Discovery" and recognizes the 500th anniversary of Columbus discovering America and nearly one century since the 1893 Chicago Columbian Exposition.

Financial crunch may close many Illinois hospitals; healthy GC center coping by expanding its services

Amidst predictions that many Illinois hospitals will cease to exist during this decade, it is comforting to know that St. Elizabeth Medical Center is highly viable, not the marginal kind of hospital so prevalent in the Midwest these days.

Nevertheless, as the cost squeeze intensifies, it is logical for SEMC to expand its geographic base, not as a primary care center competing with small hospitals in the surrounding bi-county area, but as the site of advanced and specialized care that some Illinoisans have been traveling to St. Louis and St. Louis County to obtain.

In this context, it is not surprising to learn that SEMC has acquired a 30-acre site on Route 157 and University Drive at the former Home Nursery site in southwestern Edwardsville.

Operations will continue here uninterrupted; there will be no in-patient acute care by SEMC at Edwardsville.

Among other things, the rehabilitation and therapy center that may be established—will help the Granite City medical center and Edwardsville residents become more familiar with each other.

Many central-county people know little about SEMC other than the fact that it is a big hospital with diverse, sophisticated equipment and facilities.

Established in 1904, SEMC is a multi-specialty medical center, second largest in the entire Metro-East region and among the ten largest health centers in the bi-state St. Louis metropolitan area.

In addition to 429 acute-care beds and the Ketterer Center, a 30-bed psychiatric facility, St. Elizabeth offers a wide range of special services, including: stroke rehabilitation, audiology laboratory, cardiac out-patient rehabilitation, cardiopulmonary rehabilitation, occupational therapy, physical therapy, cancer registry and Talbot Hall, the chemical (alcohol and drug) dependency unit.

Community outreach services here include home health, pre-natal clinics, mobile meals, employee assistance programs, immunization clinics, a clinic for socially transmitted diseases, industrial medicine, a "lifestyle" service and a hospice.

The local medical center also offers free community seminars in the spring and fall. Guided tours are conducted regularly and SEMC provides speakers for community groups interested in health care topics.

St. Elizabeth's medical staff encompasses many specialties, such as cardiology, neurology, pulmonary, oncology, urology, psychiatry, otolaryngology, surgery, pediatrics, obstetrics and gynecology. Construction is in progress for the newest service, an oncology unit.

What worries all hospitals these days is money. For example, St. Mary's Hospital of East St. Louis has just commented that the state plan to cut medical assistance spending in 1982-83 "poses a serious threat to our ability to provide vital health care services."

St. Mary's says, "Illinois hospitals have been forced to accept a $300 million cut in the funds used to care for the medically indigent. At St. Mary's, that would mean a loss of $1.62 a day per public aid patient; 47 percent of our patients are public aid recipients and this is growing. Illinois projects, for next year, more recipients and greater caseloads than ever before."

"Our ability to help these individuals will be severely limited at a time when the public aid population is likely to rise. For us to continue providing needed services to the poor, it will be necessary to shift these costs to the people who can pay. This becomes a hidden tax to aid the poor at the expense of the sick."

Sister Kathleen Quinn, St. Mary's administrator, says, "The state administration is not living up to its promise that everyone in Illinois will share the burden of the state's economic crisis equally."

There are 45 other governmental agencies slated for budget reductions next year. Also, hospitals have been singled out as the sole health care provider, except for dentists, to suffer any budget reductions. Those reductions cut 30 percent from the

Mandatory auto emission testing a waste of money

We have said it before and will say it again—mandatory auto emission testing, which may be required in parts of Illinois by Jan. 1, 1983, is a waste of time and money.

First-hand experience by staff members in Indiana and other states has shown the error of the deadline for annual auto emission testing is second only to April's income tax deadline.

The potential for abuse is strong. Some unethical garage mechanics can easily "doctor" figures from the test to pass a vehicle, in return for a small reward.

Even in Indiana, where mandatory testing has been in effect, the sight of a car pouring out smoke is no less common than in Illinois, where such testing is not yet required.

Automobiles which fail the test usually require expensive repairs and some could not be made to pass with anything less than engine overhauls. Persons "stuck" with cars which cannot pass inspection have no choice but to trade the vehicle in, sell it in a state which does not have the emission testing, or "encourage" a mechanic to certify the car as meeting the standards.

We agree with Governor Thompson. Emission testing is time-consuming and expensive, adds needless pressure on the state in these times of far too much pressure and results in little, if any, improvement in air quality. Congress never intended the Clean Air Act to eliminate mandatory auto emission testing.

VASIL GRAVILLE
Graville now heads AMVETS

Commander Lee McMullen presided at the Madison AMVETS Post 204 meeting held at the Post Home in Madison on Wednesday.

Election of officers for the year 1982-83 was held with the following elected: Commander Vasil C. Graville, First Vice-Commander Stan Skubish, Second Vice-Commander Dave McClelland, Third Vice-Commander George Nisike, Adj. William Vavra, Historian Carlisle, Finance Officer Nick Vaseff, Public Officer Frank Schoenhoff Sr., Legal Officer William Vavra, Service Officer Harry Hank Lopez, Sgt. at Arms William Lopez and Chaplain Dorothy Whitehead.

Co-chairmen Hank Lopez and Sly Martin announced that the annual Memorial service will be held on May 30 at the Madison Memorial Center. The program will begin at 6 p.m., followed by refreshments served by the Auxiliary ladies.

Commander McMullen appointed Martin to prepare plans for a post float to be entered in the Shriner parade.

The members donated two lights for the playground facilities in Madison and the post will donate a flag pole and flag to the city of Madison for the David Connolly Alpine Shrine at Avenue. This will be given in honor of World War II, Korean and Vietnam veterans, who gave their lives in these conflicts.

A bronze plaque will be presented to the post which will be a guaranteed winner, and the drawing will continue until someone wins the bond.

Joe Papa announced that four season tickets for all St. Louis Cardinals home games will be given away on Sept. 8.

Retiring Commander McClelland was given a standing ovation after a brief speech, thanking all members for help given him the past two years. Commander-elect Graville then placed in him as his leader and called on the members to continue the good work of the post, which now has 300 members.

Says school should buy lice shampoo

To the Editor:

My mother feels that with life's problems, the school board should furnish lice shampoo for those who need it.

Although the people around here are clean, they get to school and get lice. The schools should spray all over and not just let the problem hang around. It cost most $33 to buy the shampoo.

Neighbors helped in crisis

To the Editor:

On behalf of my family, I would like to express our deepest appreciation of the efforts given by neighbors and friends to my family during our time of crisis.

On Friday, April 23, our 4-year-old son was attacked by a neighborhood cat. At that time, we knew very few people in the neighborhood, due to the fact that we were relatively new residents, but all these strangers became friends. Without their assistance and support, apprehending the animal would have been an impossible task for just my husband and myself.

Special thanks goes to Robert Gerlach, the Parnell family, Alderman Mike Morand, Frank of the Seventh Ward, Dr. Laub, precinct committeeman, the Granite City Police Department, Andy Chiappa of the Granite City Humane Department and Mayor Paul Schuler.

Deputy invets Henke to ride

To the Editor:

On Monday, April 26, I read the article in the Granite City Press-Record titled "How to Finance Sheriff's Office".

Unanswered, When I came to the quote, "What they need is a car on the road and less cars parked on the road visiting each other and cars parked at home shops," it turned my stomach.

The quote was made by County Board Member Homer Henke of Moro, who evidently has lived a very sheltered life in the thriving metropolis of Moro.

Therefore, an open invitation is made by the undersigned to Madison County Board member Homer Henke or any other county board member or their chairmen to assist this officer on a full tour of duty, with the permission of the Madison County Sheriff's Office.

To the Editor:

Press-Record Writer Valerie E. Vanden's graciousness in giving her time to be a part of our mini-car fair on Wednesday held at South is gratefully acknowledged. On behalf of the state and county South District No. 9, I wish to thank her for helping us to convey to students the many opportunities available for them in non-traditional occupations.

Please also thank any associated, supervisors or company officials who helped make this possible. We are indeed fortunate in Granite City to have such dedicated and businesslike in our community who recognize that the schools need community assistance in helping young people learn the skills and opportunities that await them if they prepare themselves for these opportunities.

CCC alumni form new group

To the Editor:

For organizational purposes, the National Association of Civilian Conservation Corps Alumni (NACCCA) is trying to locate about two million former members and persons who were connected or affiliated with the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) during the 1930's and 40's.

It is a known fact that many of these persons reside in Illinois and areas served by the Press-Record. I am sure that many of your readers have often wondered what became of the CCC. You can tell them the CCC lives again in the NACCCA.

It is a young and growing organization with chapters in many of the states throughout the nation, and one of its major objectives is to reinstate a permanent CCC.

Anyone interested in the organization can write to NACCCA headquarters, 7900 Sudley Road, Suite 413, Manassas, Va., 22110-2874 for further information and literature.

School staff regulations

Administration of employee discipline in Granite City public schools was the subject of talks this month between school administrators and employees groups.

Enactment of a new policy was dropped by the Board of Education, May 4, after its Policy Committee concluded that existing practices were adequate, without formalizing them as a policy.

Proposals had been briefly reviewed April 20 by the School Board, which deferred action pending further consultation with school personnel.

Proposed updated rules related to discipline of employees for violating work rules and regulations. Sanctions outlined were warnings, suspension and discharge.

"Among prohibitions were weapons, fireworks, intoxicants, drugs, vandalism, fighting, "horseplay," theft, unauthorized departure or absence, unsafe conduct, failure to perform assigned work and use of abusive or disruptive language."

In another matter, the board has decided not to alter its existing restrictions on release of student names, addresses and telephone numbers.

Recruiters had sought student lists as a means of expediting their contacts with young people who might have an interest in entering the armed forces. It was noted that military service offers low-cost educational opportunities.

Board members feel they would be unable to "draw a line," and eventually might have to release such information to all who sought it. They fear this could lead to commercialism and to possible harassment of students and their families.

A report approved by the board of Education noted that "it is the recommendation of the Policy Committee that, while it understands the armed services' desire to have our student directory, and while the committee appreciates the work that they do, the policy should not be changed."

The armed services are presently enjoying above-average success in our school district.

The Policy Committee does recommend that the Testing Committee of the school staff review the ASVAB armed services ability test to see if it would be of use as a mandatory test within the school district; it is presently being used on a voluntary basis.

The test committee is to report back to the board on whether it believes the particular test should be given to all students.

A Southern Illinois Army recruiter had said in March that directory-type lists are available for purchase from other sources but are expensive. He noted that the school system and Department of Defense agencies are supported by taxpayers and are attempting to limit costs.

School officials said this spring, that considerable cost to local taxpayers would result if the schools continued students for permission to release their names and phone addresses, and then prepared lists for recruiters.

Board Secretary Robert Maxwell said it also might be necessary to obtain parents' permission if directory data were to be released. He added that clerical and computer time would be involved in such an undertaking.

Training in electronics

Gary L. Patterson, U.S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Patterson, 1 Bermuda Lane, has been assigned to an electronics training course at a guided missile school at Dam Neck, Va.

The young man entered the Navy Delayed Entry Program in November 1980, one year prior to actual enlistment. The program enabled him to study Navy manuals, pass specific tests and enter the service at a higher rank and pay.

During the same period of time, he completed his senior year at Granite City High School South and graduated in June 1981 with a major in drafting.

Patterson started basic training Nov. 13, 1981, at Great Lakes Training Center and graduated Jan. 8 as a member of company 404 which received the "Color Company" award.

The honor is given to the company attaining the mark of excellence above all others in the graduating group. Scholastics, cleanliness, drills, athletics and military appearance are areas in which the trainees are evaluated in the awards program.

Prior to his current assignment, Patterson completed Basic Submarine Training School at New London, Conn.

8th Student-Employer banquet

By VALERIE EVENDEN

of the Press-Record
Jimmy Tuetken, director of Public Relations and Volunteer and Media Services at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, will be guest speaker at the eighth annual "Student-Employer Appreciation Banquet" at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The event will be held in the auditorium at the Granite City Township Center, 2060 Delmar Ave.

The dinner is given each spring under the auspices of the Granite City School District's Off-Campus Education Program and the Off-Campus Advisory Council.

Its primary purpose is to show appreciation to the various employers throughout the community and surrounding region, who hire local high school students under the school program, and to recognize the efforts of the student participants. Donald R. Shaffner, Off-Campus coordinator, said.

More than 325 students and employers attended the banquet last spring.

Mrs. Tuetken will speak on the topic, "The Way We Were."

A former instructor at Southern Illinois University, Springfield, she has been employed at the medical center for 10 years.

Mrs. Tuetken received her bachelor's degree from SIU in Springfield and her master's degree from the University of Missouri at Columbia in communications.

She is a member of the International Association of Business Communicators and the Hospital Public Relations Society of Greater St. Louis.

The Granite City School District's Off-Campus and Extended Classroom program enables the junior and senior year high school student to gain valuable experience in various job opportunities while continuing his or her high school career.

A basic requirement of the program is that the student stay in school while working.

Some student participants enter the Off-Campus program to learn a variety of job skills in preparation for entering a specific field.

Others taking part discover that the stability and responsibility which go with a job also help them finish their formal education, according to the program coordinator.

To augment the professional personnel working with the students, an Off-Campus Advisory Council was established, consisting of employers, former student-participants and others interested in the work-educational concept.

Evaluation of the overall program, both from the student and employer aspect, is among the council's tasks, Shaffner explained.

Point of View

TV 'Gumshoes' stick in his mind

By DON FREEMAN

This is a trivia game but only experts can play. Get the kids off the street. This one is for the narrow-eyed pros. Ready? All right: Peter Gunn, the private eye of old, had this house he lived in. Do you know the address?

"It is 351 Ellis Park Road," says Richard Meyers, who posed the query in the first place. "We assume it was in L.A. although nobody ever said so in the show. Herschel Bernardi was a police lieutenant in 'Peter Gunn,' and a foil, in a sense, to Craig Stevens as Peter Gunn who was very friendly with a blonde beauty played by Lola Albright, who sang at Mother's, a nightclub. Do you want to hear more?"

"More," I said. "Tell me more about Peter Gunn."

"It was a pretty good series created by Blake Edwards," Meyers went on, "with a fine jazz score by Henry Mancini, one of the first of the genre. Was Peter Gunn sophisticated or hard-boiled? Well, he was both, and the public went for it. Craig Stevens was perfect in the role — he later played Nick Charles to Joan Plaf's Nora in a 'Thin Man' follow-up that didn't make it. 'Peter Gunn' followed the late 1950s penchant for slick, pretty private eyes, an occupation that had hitherto been filled by tough guys, like Rocky King."

"Now Rocky King," Meyers went on, "was the first important television private eye. He was played by Roscoe Karns, a fine actor. This show is not to be confused with 'Martin Kane, Private Eye,' who was played by William Gargan. And do you know who was the announcer for 'Martin Kane, Private Eye'?"

I said that I had no idea. "Walter Cronkite," said

Meyers with a certain glee. "Of course, this goes back a few years."

Who, you ask, is this Richard Meyers who knows so much about gumshoes on the tube? Meyers is an author of several books, a consultant for producers and a columnist for Arm Chair Detective magazine. His latest book, on the A.S. Barnes imprint, is called "TV Detectives," an excellent work that investigates — readably, entertainingly and with intelligence — the vast realm of the sleuths who have been a part of television from the outset. It is a comprehensive examination of a fascinating aspect of our entertainment.

"Actually," Richard Meyers was saying, "William Gargan was only the first Martin Kane. He was succeeded in turn in the role by Lloyd Nolan, Lee Tracy and Mark Stevens."

Ranking at the top of Meyers' favorites is "The Rockford Files," which is a show that succeeded on both levels — popular and critical.

"The word for 'Rockford Files,'" says Meyers, "is exceptional. It was clever, meaningful, well-acted, well-written. It was singular. It stood alone. And James Garner was terrific. As Garner plays him, Rockford had something rare in his character — and that is exasperation, a quality virtually unheard-of in heroes. Rockford was no stoic. He was the consummate realist — not a coward, not a hero, just a guy who lived his own life."

"Was Garner playing Maverick?"

"No," Meyers says. "Maverick is a different character even with a few similarities. Rockford is tougher, more along the lines of Philip Marlowe, private eye. Rockford is much, much more weary than Maverick ever was."

Meyers also harbors a fondness for the "Columbo" series and its star, Peter Falk. "Just about everybody liked 'Columbo,'" Meyers says. "It was never a whodunit in the classic sense but how will Columbo capture the villain. It was always a cat-and-mouse game and Columbo was extremely cunning. I like shows where evil doers are punished. It was like that totally in 'Columbo' because Peter Falk would torture his prey, all of them usually cold-blooded murderers. But Falk would zero in on his victim with his snewy, seemingly absent-minded way. He drove those people crazy."

"Peter Falk is pretty special. He's not the stuff that stars are usually of. He's short, he's got one glass eye. Did you know that Bing Crosby was originally approached to play Columbo?"

"Really?"

"Yes," Meyers said, "and I think, if directed well, Bing would have handled the role very well, but of course in a different fashion. But it is very hard to think of anyone other than David Janssen in the private-eye roles that he played. David Janssen to me was the quintessential hard-boiled, Los Angeles private eye, even if he did do one season in San Diego as 'Harry O.' Janssen had the ability to look weary and energetic at the same time. Do you remember the name of the boat that Harry O. was always working on in his backyard?"

"No," I said.

"The Answer it was called," Meyers said.

"One more question — who played the stewardess named Sue who lived next door to Harry O's beach house?"

"I didn't know that, either."

"Farrah Fawcett-Majors," he said.

I would look it up but I know he's right.

Hollywood Strip

From Capt. Kirk to Officer Hooker

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — His new series, "T.J. Hooker," has been doing well in the ratings and has a good chance of returning to the ABC schedule this fall, and WILLIAM SHATNER is more than just pleased. He sees the series as a chance to have an identity besides that of Captain Kirk from "Star Trek." It seems to be working.

"There has been an extraordinary turnaround," Shatner said. "People see me on the street and say, 'Hi, T.J., or, 'Hello, Hooker.' So, they no longer see me just as Kirk."

"But, to be truthful, I don't know if I want to shake off 'Star Trek.' The movie that will come out this summer is excellent. A really good script."

Trekies will be happy to know that Shatner has pledged to do another "Star Trek" motion picture if the grosses of this summer's offering spark Paramount to go for a third feature. Remember, the first motion picture was a box-office smash.

For Shatner, playing a cop has also been an education. On T.J. he remarked, "The policeman is the fantasy of the good man upholding the law in society. But the character I play is also in conflict with society."

Nevertheless, Shatner has seen the power of the uniform. On one occasion while filming was at a lull, he was standing around in costume when he happened to witness a minor traffic accident. Not realizing who he was, the drivers looked over to him, and he waved them on to keep them from blocking traffic. Without realizing it, he had posed as a cop.

"The uniform carries enormous authority," he asserted. "I felt that sense of potency. It's a strange and dangerous mix."

Shatner has been directing for the stage as well as acting these last few years and expects to have the chance to direct episodes of the series if it returns next year. He hopes to write and direct the first episodes, in fact.

Off the set, he keeps active with his family and left for a vacation in Hawaii after taping an upcoming "Battle of the Network Stars." He admits he worked-out in a gym to prepare for the "Battle," which the actors take very seriously. They practice together in an effort to become more of a team before the event.

"I like the variety of work I've had the last few years," he added. "I look forward to working on the series with a mixture of dread and anticipation. I think we'll have a good show."

When it comes to a show, MGM is keeping its fingers crossed. The brass at the studio is hoping that "Brainstorm" will be a good film despite the fact that scenes had to be rewritten when NATALIE WOOD died tragically. The prognosis should be out soon.

No sooner did she win her Oscar than MAUREEN STAPLETON was signed for a featured role in the upcoming TV movie based on the book, "Little Gloria, Happy At Last." Already cast are BETTE DAVIS, ANGELA LANSBURY and GLYNIS JOHNS, who hasn't been seen in America in quite some time.

PAMELA MASON made a name for herself appearing on talk shows to "dish" her ex-husband JAMES MASON and just about everyone else in Hollywood. Some producers took note and Pamela will now be hostess for a daily commentary and report on the entertainment industry for the syndicated Personality News Network.

There will be another attempt to tell the story of CHARLIE CHAPLIN on stage. JOHN RUBINSTEIN will star in a version of the funny man's life, which will get its first tryouts during the late summer. Rubinstein is no stranger to the stage, having made a name for himself in the Broadway musical "Pippin" and later in the play "Children of a Lesser God."

MELISSA SUE ANDERSON is also trying the stage route. She ventured to Jupiter, Fla., to appear in a version of "Gingerbread Lady" at BURT REYNOLDS' dinner theater there. Working for Burt has become an "in" thing to do in Hollywood. She's still seeing FRANK SINATRA JR. and he'll be on hand to see Melissa perform.
